Unlock the Science to Motivation, Collaboration, and Peak Performance

Breakthrough Teams

The world has changed profoundly and so has the psyche of your team. To be an effective leader, you have to master and understand the powerful new drivers of human behavior and motivation.

Every organization and team has the potential to operate at peak performance. Unfortunately, most teams today find themselves frustrated, nowhere near as effective as they could be, and often divided by tension – if not outright dissension.

Breakthrough Teams is an actionable program to build today's most collaborative teams, so any organization can operate at peak performance.

A massive shift is taking place in the business world. Up to 80% of employees' days are now spent working and collaborating as teams. Steve Gutzler, President of Leadership Quest, shares the five proven shifts to building cohesive, productive teams despite the distractions and challenges many organizations are currently facing.

and Peak Performance

Breakthrough Teams

This new interactive program will provide you and your team with actionable tools to get to the next level of performance through these five breakthroughs:

1. How to engage Millennials, Gen Xers, and Boomers to get along and rally around a shared vision
2. How to build the 3C's: Communicate, Collaborate, and Connect for better results
3. How to unlock speed productivity to work smarter and faster
4. How to inspire leaders at every level to multiply performance and success
5. How to create extraordinary moments for your customers that ensure lasting loyalty

It is possible to lead your team to major improvements, no matter what you are seeking to achieve. Whether it's a group of senior executives or a mixed audience of 1,000, Steve's powerful Breakthrough Teams program will leave the room feeling energized and wanting to get to the "next level" of performance.
